1. Mr. Anas Asalem

As part of the community service project for this course, CPE 680, we have come out with one program to fulfil the requirement of serving UiTM's engineering students. Since we are currently in a pandemic, the talk 'Developing Leadership and Influence Skills: From Self-Management to People Management' is a program that will be run through online platform, Cisco Webex on the 10th July 2021. We have decided to invite Mr. Zharif (former President of SPE) and Mr. Anas Asalem (Technical Sales Engineer from Schlumberger) as our speaker and we believe that the experience as well as the background of the speakers are in line with the purpose of the project.

The purpose of this program is to enlighten students' knowledge on the importance of leadership skills that need to be inculcated and need to be nurtured when stepping into the working environment. This will help students in terms of preparedness when seeking employment and thus, will make them aware of the importance of leadership skills along with making them actively participate in extracurricular activities to gain the leadership skills for these remaining semesters. In addition, the program also aims to provide exposure on professional ethics of engineers while working. It will also provide opportunities for students to interact with the speakers that have experience working in the industry, build networking and increase employability in the future.

At the end of this program, it is hope that the relationship between UiTM students and oil and gas companies can be expanded and strengthened. This can indirectly benefit UiTM students, especially from the Faculty of Chemical Engineering for good and bright employment opportunities in the future.
